TwelveStone Health Partners Opens New Infusion Center In Chattanooga

Tuesday, June 21, 2022

TwelveStone Health Partners, a provider of comprehensive chronic care medication services, will open their seventh infusion center June 30 at 1206 Pointe Centre Dr., Suite 230. They have five other locations in Tennessee with additional locations each in Georgia and Virginia.

The Infusion Center bridges the gap between home and hospital to keep patients from being readmitted to the hospital.

Shane Reeves, Tennessee state senator and chief executive officer, said TwelveStone Health Partners is excited to bring this level of supplicated, holistic care to the thriving area of Chattanooga.

In these infusion centers individuals receive care in a private treatment room with free Wi-Fi, snacks, and drinks. The centers are staffed with certified clinicians that partner with the patient's care team to assess and recommend care plans. TwelveStone submits the bills and all paperwork to the insurance company. The result: patients receive much needed critical care in a setting that is peaceful and inviting, said officials.

Soddy Daisy: Home To Bad Food, Worse Roads, And No Gasoline - And Response

I enjoy Soddy Daisy. Truly I do. But over the past six years or so, everything in the town has been going downhill, and quite fast. There is simply no place to eat in Soddy Daisy that offers any nutritional value or variety. Burger King, McDonald's, Sonic, KFC, Taco Bell, Wendy's, Bojangles. This is what we have to feed our children. Now a couple people may say what about ... (click for more)

Roy Exum: Hope, Not Judgment

In the last years of my mother's blessed life, she would watch two or three TV preachers in the afternoons. She adored it and darn near memorized the messages. Of course, I would kid her, asking how many of the viewers did she imagine would sip on a glass of "communion" during the telecasts. Oh, mother would never over-imbibe, not in a million years, but the combination of a great ... (click for more)
